// The Age

The Age Print Centre is a very complex and unique structure flanking the giant printing facilities in Tullamarine. The Age facility has been designed not only for maximum recycling of materials, liquids and waste separation within the building but also externally.

Heritage Glass was responsible for the design and construct of the landmark structure depicting a furling copy of The Age. Using repeated geometric flat glass sheets, Heritage Glass was able to deliver the curvature illusion of a 32m tall newspaper sculpture.
